

Dear friends,

I hope you are all well. I am writing to share news of my role.

During March, I returned to the UK permanently, bringing to a close my time in Maridi. I appreciate that this might be a surprise – while I have been in conversation with CMS and colleagues for a number of months about the fact that I would be leaving, the final details came together quite rapidly. I had not written about this earlier as I needed to prioritise finishing well and sharing news within Maridi.

I sensed the Lord saying my time of living in Maridi was coming to a close. Alongside this, my health has not been good for some time and I have felt a need to be closer to my mother in this season. As such, after the celebration of the centenary of the gospel in Maridi, the time was right to return to the UK.

I look forward to seeing many of you when I begin to arrange to visit the churches who have so faithfully and generously supported me so far – and I will share more in my next link letter about plans for the future.

Thank you so much for continuing to walk with me on this journey.

With every blessing,

Lynn

We are of course sad to see Lynn go, but are most grateful for her faithful service in Maridi over the past six years. We wish her all the best of what God has for her in the future as she settles back into life in the UK and seeks wisdom and guidance on next steps.

We are most grateful too for your support for Lynn over the years. We do hope the link has been a blessing and encouragement to you and your congregation and a helpful insight into what God is doing in another part of his world.

We would love to maintain our links with Maghull St Andrew, and continue to encourage your congregation in catching a vision for God's global mission. I would be delighted to write and recommend other mission partners who are looking for churches like yours who will commit to partnering with them on their mission journey. In the meantime, if you have any questions, please feel free to contact me directly.

Thank you once again for your support for the work of CMS, expressed through your partnership with Lynn Treneary.

Kind regards

Julie Jones
